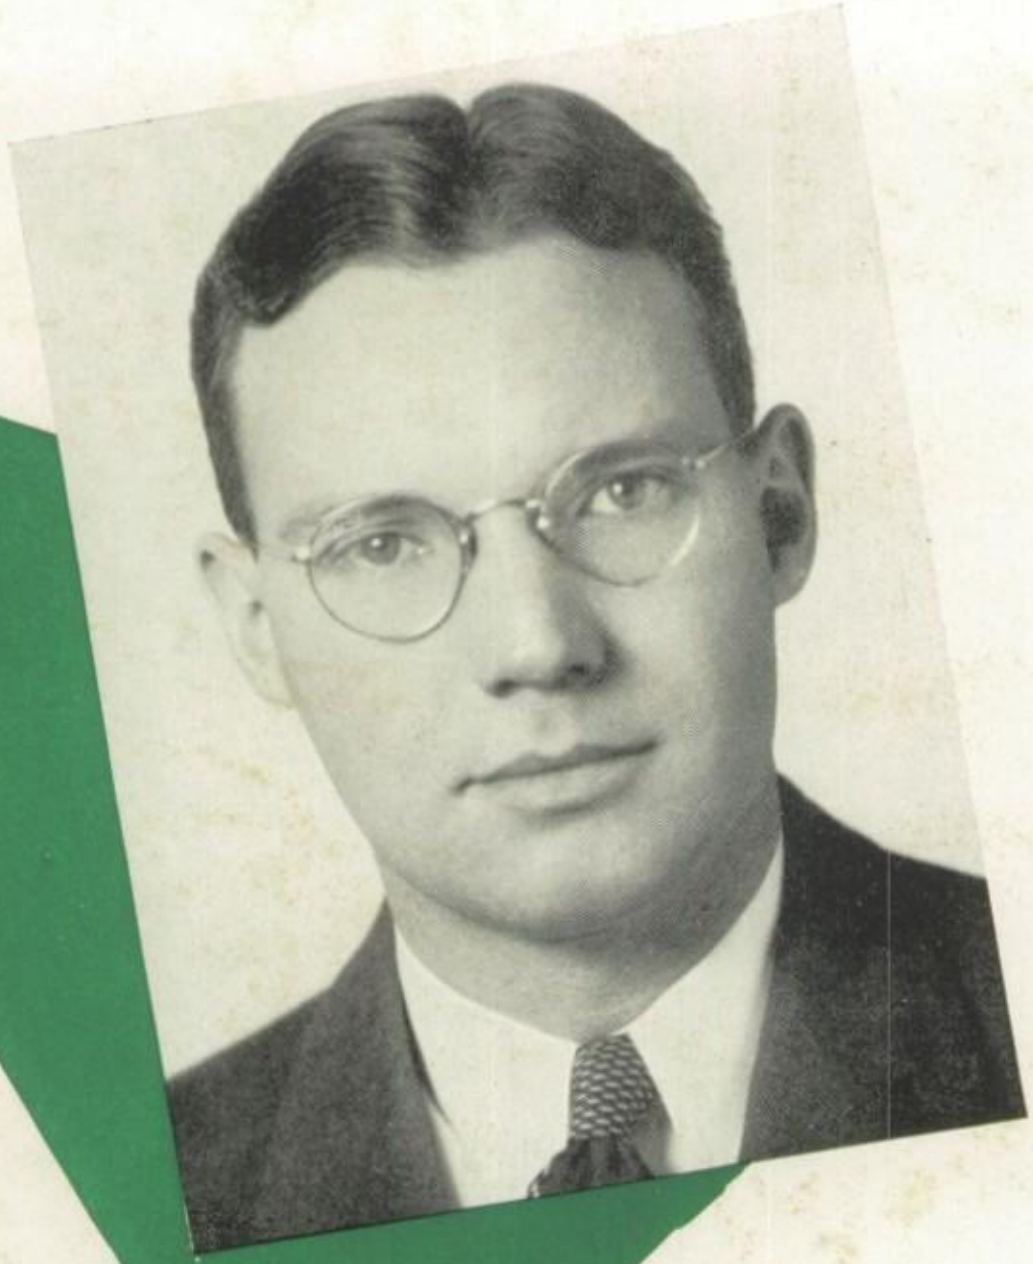
SCHOOL AS YOU KNEW IT THE PAST YEAR



WE SALUTE

Mr. Joseph E. Wherry

To Joseph E. Wherry, Penn High School's first assistant principal, whose genial efficiency, willingness to help, and personal understanding of student problems, have helped to open new doors to a more co-operative relationship between faculty and students, this edition of the Seneca is respectfully dedicated.

Through Penn High School Gateways

"Wisdom crieth at the gates, at the entry of the city, at the coming in at the doors."

Sincerely hoping that the cries have not been ignored from the time you entered the Gates of Penn High until now at your leaving, we, the Seneca Staff of 1941, present to you this record of your associations here. In looking over the familiar scenes, the photographs snapped here and there of you and your friends, and of this and that, you may spend many hours in happy reflection.

All who have made the most of their time scholastically, taken part in the activities of school life and have learned the many lessons met through these associations, will leave the Gates of Penn High prepared to meet the many problems of the future.

The gates now swing wide upon a world in which you will have ample opportunity to grow in wisdom and in truth.

School Administration and Classes

Administration

The keeper of the keys which open the gates of Knowledge is Mr. Fred E. Haines, Superintendent of Penn Township Schools. By understanding as well as solving the problems of a growing community, he has shown what progress can be made in higher education. He has never failed to co-operate with us in projects that were worthwhile, and when the work was finished, as a good sport, he joined in our pleasure.

Mr. N. F. Hoelzle opens doors for over a thousand students if we are but willing to enter. There are doors to academic, business, and vocational courses, doors to extra-curricular activities that help to broaden us socially and intellectually, doors to athletics that improve our general health. Every day a hundred little problems arise, most of them caused by us, and in his own manner, Mr. Hoelzle takes them in his stride.

Mr. F. E. Haines

Mr. N. F. Hoelzle

Mr. A. C. Mitchell, Mr. T. S. Elliott, Mr. J. M. Watts, Mr. J. E. Hetrick, Mr. R. R. Brenlove, attorney.

Mr. F. E. Haines, supervising principal; Mr. K. W. Stoner, Mr. P. Murray.
Absent: Mrs. M. P. Boggs.

Board of Education

Through the efforts of these individuals, we have the new gates at the end of the driveway which make the theme of our yearbook. As a class we owe much to this group, for during our four years here, they have provided us with all the new equipment and opportunities which we have enjoyed. Without remuneration for their time, they strive to make Penn High School stand among the best in scholarship, athletics, facilities and surroundings. During the past year many improvements have been made inside and outside the school. This spring just remember as you admire the flowers and trees along the drive that the board had an eye to beauty. And then this fall while you are thrilling to the sight of the band marching or one of the Indians making a touchdown, think that the school board has provided one of the finest athletic fields in Western Pennsylvania. And the bleachers are new too.

Of course all school boards provide textbooks and essential equipment, but ours give us the latest and best.

The members of the board are: Mr. J. M. Watts, President; Mr. T. S. Elliott, Vice President; Mr. J. E. Hetrick, Secretary; Mr. C. A. Mitchell, Treasurer; Mr. P. Murray; Mr. K. Stoner; Mrs. M. P. Boggs.

Class History

Dear Diary,

A frosh ! That's what they called me — "A Green Frosh !" But I took it and challenged them for more. (So quickly the events flash by in my mind)—School dedication on September 30; immediately followed by our first interscholastic football game; our first assembly program. Students dashed madly about, stopping only long enough to inform me they were late for a meeting of the newly organized Hall Patrol, Debating Club, Hi-Y, or the first draft of the band. Penn Points joined the P. S. P. A.; in due course of time, Penn Hi had accepted membership in the W. P. I. A. L. An Indian for Penn Hi's future fame was chosen as mascot. Halls were a mass of dog collar belts; saddles in both masculine and feminine sizes. Sad to relate were the deaths of two of Penn Hi's most loved citizens, Robert Bushey and Jean Hoffman. Vacation came much too soon, but bringing with it thoughts of summer pleasures and thoughts of a new year as a sophomore.

Dear Diary,

September for Sophomores is super-super. But, dear diary, my resistance is so low, what with all the new modes — dutchies, angora sweaters, bush jackets, and Martha Washington hair-dos. (Oh, but my allowance is so low, too.) Our football team fought its way to their first great achievement, a five-point standing over East Pittsburgh. Thrillingly enough, Penn High was accredited by the State. No more entrance exams to be taken ! ! Advantageous to all, a vocational course was set up. The golf team putted down the greens for the championship in the W. P. I. A. L. Well should they be praised for such a brilliant victory, as also should we sophies for maintaining the highest number of students on the honor roll throughout the year. The track team on its first dash had jumped the hurdles; we, too, have hurdled to our half-way mark at Penn High School.

Dear Diary,

"Satan finds some mischief for idle hands to do" is summer's slogan. And so peaceful was our home again, and countless others too, when September walked in and chased me out. I, parading in new knee-length socks and moccasins, saw on the football field the first surprises of the year — new bleachers and a newly uniformed band plus majorettes. Gee, they were gay. Luck was with them for our team scored their first home victory on September 28. Not long after, the Virgil, Science, and Twirlers

Clubs were formed. Boys fashioned teddybear haircuts. Boys and girls both sported bright plaid shirts. Previous to Christmas vacation, "The Nativity" was applauded by all. Our Junior class presentation, "Whispering Walls," followed in a couple months. Good news to the feminine sex were the supper meetings of the Girl Reserves. February boosted the election of officers—Edward Dardanell, president; Russell Barnett, vice president; Helen Bergent, secretary; Dick Hemphill, treasurer; Marjorie Selleck, historian. With the dawning of spring, three prominent events took place: The Penn Hi golfers for the second consecutive time won the W. P. I. A. L. championship; outstanding was the Junior-Senior reception; the track team had an illustrious season. The grand finale of the year was played by the band in its first concert.

Dear Diary,

Newly-planted flowers and shrubbery extended a welcome as I first entered school for this, my last year at Penn Hi, was to be one brimming over with unforgettable memories. It took four years to get there, but we were finally moved into the senior seats in the auditorium.

It was grand to see and hear everything that was going on. Most amazing was a survey taken by Penn Points of the things one finds in girls' handbags and boys' trouser pockets. Everything from soup to nuts ! The art of salesmanship was clearly shown in the senior magazine and stationery drive for annual funds. What fun ! Soon after, the photographer came, snapping all the faces and corners in the school. Two new clubs fought their way into existence, K-M-E-Ish and Wrestling. The current question, "Who's Yohooty," paved the way for the senior We-Three Dance. Nautical "H. M. S. Pinafore," proving to be our biggest success, replaced the usual senior class play. Winter season found the feminine sex well-equipped with high rubber boots, bright plaids, reversibles, and shell-rimmed glasses; the masculine: corduroy vests and trench coats. Proudly displayed were our class colors, Kelly green and white, not to forget the lily-of-the-valley, the class flower. Both the senior prom and open house were more clever and exciting than ever. With May came the always popular reception and much to the distress of all, senior exams. June 3 ushered in senior class night, our most gala event. Following on the 5th was commencement, the most mournful yet joyful day of the year.

Now the clock has run down, and I out of words, but thanks to you, dear diary, I am able to keep all these memories forever.

Most lovingly,

MARJORIE SELLECK.

School Activities

The Seneca

First Row—M. Snyder, N. Jacobson, B. McWilliams, T. Puskarich, L. Gross, D. Blackadore, J. Kellerman, D. Gunzenhauser, M. Selleck.

Second Row—T. Fazi, F. Pavlik, B. J. Kenning, C. Diebold, V. Nelson, Miss Heggie, Mr. Crane.

Third Row—R. Barnett, J. Baker, R. Cline, E. Dardanell, J. Bregant, I. Yarbrough, Miss Atkinson.

Time means nothing and everything to the Seneca staff. At 10:30, 11:30, and even 12:00 they are slaving to meet the "deadline" set by the printer or engraver. There's Mr. Crane and his helpers patiently mounting pictures, pictures, and more pictures. Miss Atkinson writes furiously, then a long pause and you hear, "I'm stymied." Marjorie Selleck, assistant editor, writes and types, and sometimes retypes. Jean Kellerman, art editor, and Natalie Jacobson, her assistant, without waiting for inspirations, turn out the rubber cuts you see all through the book. The copy typing staff, Thelma, Frances, and Betty Jean, no sooner get the copy typed than someone notes a change in set-up. Dorothy Blackadore, feature editor, after having worked two days and until four in the morning, is frantically striving to finish the senior write-ups, one of the hardest assignments on the book. Russell Cline, sports editor, sits counting words for the golf, football, and basketball summaries. Russell Barnett, finished early with his photography work, wanders around eating candy and potato chips and insisting he can't do any write-ups. But business manager, Marilyn Snyder, insists that if she has to write, he has to also. Miss Heggie plugs at the typewriter, identifies all you underclassmen, or spells that difficult name. And we can't tell you what the editor-in-chief is doing at this time, for after beginning the work well, he took scarlet fever and a long vacation. But here's hoping the staff's labors have not been in vain. May you enjoy your Seneca as much as we have enjoyed editing it.

PENN POINTS

Student Publication of Penn High School

First Row—Mrs. Dau, F. Bey, D. Blackadore, M. M. Bright, W. Sanderson, J. Kellerman, P. Costas, E. Dardanell, Mrs. Hiett.

Second Row—M. Winklmann, B. J. Kenning, V. Ambrose, M. Delancey, B. Heinauer, D. Gunzenhauser, K. Dakis, T. Puskarich, M. Sacsek, J. Smith.

Third Row—C. Diebold, V. Monfredo, M. Saunders, D. Sporman, J. Snyder, M. J. Day, J. Turner, R. Berg, B. McWilliams, B. Eunson.

Fourth Row—C. Linamen, L. Pleasants, M. Duffett, I. Boggs, F. Pavlik, J. Bergent, T. Fazi, R. Smith, U. Halloran, R. Baker.

"Check that copy! . . . The galley's back! . . . Time to make up the dummy!" That's newspaper jargon, and if you're at Penn High, the scene is Room 3 where all staff meetings are held and the editors do their work at turning out PENN POINTS every three weeks.

Reporters dash about collecting the latest news in time to "beat the deadline." Articles are carefully checked and sent to the typists. The typed copy is then re-checked before it is sent to the printer, who "sets up the galley." When it comes back, editors take out their scissors and start snipping out the articles they wish to use. These are pasted on sheets of white paper in their proper order, and a "dummy sheet" is made to designate what headlines are to be used, the type print desired, the placing of "cuts", etc. This material goes back to the printer to be set up as "proof". This is checked by the editors and then goes back to the printer once more to be printed in its final form. The next morning "PENN POINTS" is distributed to its subscribers.

Hi-Y

First Row—D. Bailey, D. Walton, B. Magison, R. Thomas, A. Schaffer, J. Wilson, D. Sheets, G. Shiner.

Fourth Row—Mr. Crane, W. Alberts, D. Raup, W. Dible, F. Versaw, A. Ireland, R. Hershey,

Staunch boys assembled for a staunch purpose. These some forty follow under the sponsorship of Mr. Frank Crane. They are constantly striving toward better characters, both for themselves and for their fellow students. This year they delighted in presenting during an assembly program an amusing play, "No Curtain Calls." To obtain more spirit, a friendly rivalry has been established between the Hi-Y and the Girl Reserves. This can easily be seen in a ticket drive or some other school campaign. The officers of this organization are: President, Arthur Schaffer; vice president, Dick Hemphill; secretary, Russell Barnett; and treasurer, David Bailey.

Girl Reserves

First Row—R. Holman, A. Moeller, L. Isherwood, E. Clark, V. Nelson (Vice President), M. Campbell (Treasurer), M. E. Stoner (Secretary), M. M. Bright (President), O. Rau, D. McCollum, V. Woffenden, M. Clark, A. Schwarzel, P. Shivers, M. Delancey, B. Kuhar, L. Vance.

I WILL TRY TO BE:

Gracious in manner
Impartial in judgment
Ready for service
Loyal to friends

Reaching toward the best
Earnest in purpose
Seeing the beautiful
Eager for knowledge
Reverent to God
Victorious over self
Ever dependable
Sincere at all times

Club Life Fulfills a Vocational

Science Club

The Science Club, affiliated with the American Institute of Science and Engineering Clubs, has the opportunity of developing any interest of science and displaying its work against hundreds of other Science Clubs throughout the nation.

One of its members, Richard Walton, won the 1940 Grand Prize Science Exhibition at the Buhl Planetarium for his model of an aeroplane wind tunnel and received a trip to the New York World's Fair.

Along with its interests in Room 206, this club has taken trips to radio transmitting stations, and has made tours of industrial plants and laboratories. The Science Club will enlarge its activities even more next year. Practical applications of the photo-electric cell that performs electronic miracles will be added.

The officers of this club are: Richard Raup, President; Thomas McMeekin, Vice President; Fred Stewart, Secretary-Treasurer; Mr. John Manton, faculty sponser.

Center—Mr. Manton.

Second Row—Edward Dardanell, James Baker, Dick Raup, William Dible, James Tell, Fred Stewart, Fred Harchelroad, Ira Yarbrough.

Sub Deb Club

Sponsored by Miss Massarelli, these girls
Use to the best of their ability the rules of Beauty, charm, poise, and personality.

Democratic in nature, the club has all members
Entered in the National Sub-Deb Federation to Better the girls in health and manners.

Consisting of twenty-five members, it strives to Lead them in sincere, cheerful living with Understanding of etiquette and friendliness to Become as agreeable as possible.

Health or Recreational Purpose

Cue and Curtain Club

"All the world's a stage
And all the men and women merely players."

Last fall the cast of players in this club went to rehearsal under a new director, Miss Heggie. With twenty-five available roles on the membership list, it took stiff tryouts to choose from the applicants. The stellar performances were the Thanksgiving assembly and the entertainment for Plum's Footlights Club. Officers were Jack Ambrose, President; James Baker, Vice President; Billie McIlrath and Virginia Deyo, Secretaries; and Marilyn Snyder, Treasurer.

First Row—R. Randolph, M. Snyder, V. Deyo, J. Ambrose, B. McIlrath, B. Kleppner.

Second Row—Miss Heggie, G. McMannis, H. Stephens, B. Wieland, M. Potts, A. Schwarzel, L. Isherwood, M. Selleck, D. Gunzenhauser, C. Lilja, M. George.

Third Row—M. Owens, L. York, N. Jacobson, J. Froelich, R. Heggie, R. Smith, G. Fisher, M. Keating, D. Blackadore, R. McCreight, M. J. McIlrath.

Fourth Row—J. Day, D. Sheets, W. Sanderson, W. Alberts, E. Dardanell, F. Bey, J. Keagy, A. Ireland, J. Haymaker, D. Hershey, R. Duffett, C. Duffett.

Spanish Club

With all the strife in our world of today—great efforts are being made to effect a closer Pan-American relationship. La Confradia Espanola is doing its part. In the meetings all business is conducted in Spanish; then the members participate in Spanish games and songs.

Students Learn Problems of Library

Mrs. Spangler has as her student library assistants eleven capable girls who all enjoy their work. Each girl works one hour a day, but their duties correspond. The main duties are stamping and carding books, and arranging them on the shelves for students' use. The magazine most popular with the girls is the "American Girl" while the boys like "Popular Mechanics" and "Popular Aviation." "Readers Digest" is also in demand.

Comments from the girls:

"I like to work in the library because you get to know more people."—Bunny Brockunier.

"I like to work in the library because it increases your knowledge for the business world." — Mildred Thompson.

"I like to work in the library because I like books and you come in contact with different things." — Elnora Holden.

"I like to work in the library because I am planning to prepare to be a librarian when I finish high school. By working in the library I can learn a lot about this work."— Fredericka Brown.

Office Secretaries

Yes, these girls may, in the near future, become somebody's private secretary. This year the responsibilities of actual secretaries have been assumed by them. Their daily routine is that of typing, mimeographing, switch-board operating, hectographing, and other miscellaneous tasks.

Under the efficient supervision of Miss Martha Richey these girls have gained an insight into the business world which faces them. Their pleasantness and cheerfulness welcome you into the office. To these girls we wish the best of success in their business career!

Library Assistants

Roberta Ward, Fredericka Brown, Helen Delancey, Elnora Holden, Eleanor Isherwood, Ruth McCance, Mildred Thompson, Bunny Brockunier, Martha Grabowski, Librarian—Mrs. Spangler.

Office Assistants

Betty Kleppner, Frances Pavlik, Tillie Puskarich, Betty Mae Heinauer, Betty Jean Kenning.

Self Government by Experience

STUDENT COUNCIL

Here, readers, you see the leaders of Penn High—"the cream of the Penn High crop," so to speak. These students are chosen to be members of the Student Council because they are all-around students. These honored students set examples for the entire school.

The Student Council is a student governing body composed of eighteen members — eight seniors, six juniors, and four sophomores. At the close of the freshman year, four members are elected to represent that class. Then at the end of the sophomore year, two more students join the council. Again, at the end of the junior year, two more students are admitted.

The purpose of the Student Council is to promote a more friendly relationship between the administration and the student body.

Throughout the year, this group is called upon to present assemblies, sponsor dances, and to introduce new students to Penn High ways.

The Student Council within the past year has become one of the most important and powerful organizations in the school.

The meetings, for the first time, are held regularly. The constitution provides that the meeting be held every other week during the period set aside for junior and senior home room activities. Also, the constitution provides that the minutes of each meeting are read over the radio.

Among its many accomplishments the Student Council drew up a constitution this year. At the present time a committee is compiling facts for the publishing of a student handbook. The handbook will be sold by the Student Council at a nominal fee for freshmen in particular, but all students in general.

Contained in the handbook are descriptions of the various clubs and organizations and also of school departments. It states rules and habits of the students.

The presiding officers are: Bill Sanderson, president; Fred Bey, vice president; Marilyn Snyder, secretary; and Helen Bergent, treasurer. Mr. Arthur Kelley acts as advisor.

First Row—Bill Sanderson, Martha May Bright, Mary Jane Day, Marilyn Snyder, La Verne York.

Third Row—Fred Stewart, Ed Dardanelle, Alfred Ireland, Fred Bey, Howard Charrie, Ira Yarbrough.

Student Service Organizations Make for

The K-M-E-Ish Club

The K-M-E-Ish Club, the shorthand spelling for commercial which is just a new organization in Penn High School, is for the purpose of equipping boys and girls with a better knowledge of the business world. This club is sponsored by Mrs. Muriel Hiett and Miss Nancy Litman. Each one of these ambitious students is a secretary to a teacher and their work consists of stencil cutting, typewriting, hectographing, and mimeographing. The club is divided into committees, each committee having a chairman. These committees are: Social Committee, Program Committee, Membership Committee, Bulletin Board Committee, and Scrapbook Committee. Within the entire year the girls have done much in regard to their duties as secretaries. The club now consists of 49 members, which includes Junior members also, who recently were admitted. To this club we wish the best of success!

Smooth Functioning of School Life

THE STAGE CREW, sponsored by Mr. Ralph N. Stoner and Mr. DeVaughn Scott, is one of the most active groups in Penn High School. Whenever there is a dance or a play to be held in the school, these boys pitch right in and do their part. They are the boys who are responsible for those realistic stage settings we have at all of our plays. They are also responsible for decorating the gymnasium for our dances. The reason this bunch of boys is so willing and active in our school activities is that they all work together to attain one goal, which is to make Penn High School the best school. The school is proud of these fine boys and their directors, Mr. Stoner and Mr. Scott.

First Row — A. Barton, R. Fitzroy, R. Heid, R. Long, G. Beatty.

STUDENT PATROL

These "patrolmen" are stationed throughout the halls. Each has his or her respective post to patrol. Their splendid traffic management would be impossible without the cooperation of the students. The Student Patrol, under the sponsorship of John Manton, has made itself one of the most active groups of the school by its influence throughout the school year.

First Row — LaVern Evans, Betty Marsh, Tillie Puskarich, Julia Bogdansky, Dolores Gunzenhauser, Mr. Manton.

Students in Music Make

The Red and Gold marched on from a group of inexperienced musicians to one of the finest musical organizations in Western Pennsylvania.

Those two pioneers, the Mango Brothers, undertook the almost impossible task of organizing a unit to represent our fine school. Shortly after, a dynamic personality, Mr. Ingold, proceeded to organize and train the students into a military style band.

This year the members have selected a student director and a group of their fellow band members to represent them. These talented lads have a weekly meeting and discuss the progress of the band and ways of furthering it. The student director was in the person of a clever trumpet player, Harry Dean. The climax of the year came when the band gave its annual concert.

This year the music was composed of everything from marches by Sousa to waltzes by Strauss.

The chorus, an active group in Penn High School, consists of over 70 members, picked on the basis of their talent and interest in music.

Much variety is shown in the musical numbers selected by Mrs. Mary L. Jeffreys. Negro spirituals, light, foreign dances, modern arrangements, and sacred selections are favorites of both the 70 singers and their audiences.

This year the chorus received dark maroon robes, which were made by Penn High students. These robes were obtained through the profits of the Spring Festival. Many "four-bell" performances have been presented by this musical group. Outstanding was their version of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "H. M. S. Pinafore." They have also presented programs at churches, assemblies, and graduation exercises.

Our talented orchestra
Really is endeavoring to help
Create a desire and appreciation for good music.
Having ushered in "H.M.S. Pinafore," they
Earnestly hope their efforts were justified.
Serving at many school activities, the
Thirty members have built up their musical knowledge,
Rendering numerous old enjoyable tunes.
All have counted it worthwhile.

Noteworthy Progress

"The Play's the Thing"

★ "Young April"

★ "H. M. S. Pinafore"

"YOUNG APRIL"

"Young April," a sequel to "Growing Pains" given here three years ago, made a tremendous hit on March 14. Professor McIntyre (Bill Sanderson) and his charming wife (Mabel Keating) had their hands full once more with their son George (Fred Bey) having financial troubles over his girl Diane (Marian Potts) and their daughter Terry (Betty Wieland) getting engaged and "disengaged". Vivian (Estelle Easler), an obvious flirt, helped to entertain Brian Stanley to keep him away from Terry, whom he liked. Brian (Howard Charrie) finally reached an understanding with Terry after she realized how much more superior he was to Bert Parsons (Jim Haymaker) and Stewart Miller (Charles Duffett). Stewart's mother, a gushy, affected woman, was excellently acted by Ruth Smith. Lula, the maid (Anne Grey), never had a moment's peace in such an active household. Friends of the young McIntyres who dropped around frequently were Elsie (Wilma Rimmell), Jane (Laura Dizak), Mildred (Ethel Kosco), Pete (George Piposar), and Dutch (Vencil Jelovchan). Of course, everything was settled amicably, for Brian got Terry and George won Diane.

Miss Marguerite Heggie, an excellent directress, guided the able and co-operative cast through their difficulties.

"H. M. S. Pinafore"

Nautical, but nice, the H. M. S. Pinafore docked at Penn High last November. Commanding the gallant crew was Captain Corcoran (Russell Barnett) . . . a finer captain never walked the deck. Josephine (Marilyn Snyder), the fairest flower that blossoms, fell in love with one of her father's able crew, Ralph Rackstraw (Ed Dardanell). Little Buttercup (Virginia Deyo) was the captain's favorite in this port, who came aboard to sell her "teacle and toffee, tea, and coffee" to the lusty crew aided by the Boatswain (Bob Aber).

With the Pinafore, complications sailed in too. The honorable Sir Joseph Porter K. C. B. (James Baker) accompanied by his sisters, his cousins, and his aunts, had come to claim Josephine's hand in marriage. A faithful shadow and echo of Sir Joseph was Cousin Hebe (Sara Jane Shane). Captivated by Josephine's charms, Sir Joseph was scorned by her who loved another . . . aye . . . Ralph Rackstraw . . . but she was much above his station.

What's this? Dick Deadeye (Art Schaeffer) threw cold water on the situation by the startling announcement that Josephine was to elope with Ralph, a humble sailor.

Behold! Buttercup had something to say. In childhood's happy hours, none other than Buttercup switched the Captain and Rafe, one of low birth . . . the other a patrician. So it seemed that Rafe was the Captain and the Captain was Rafe.

As the ship tossed idly at anchor, the Captain and Buttercup revealed their plan to marry as likewise did Sir Joseph. Rafe and Josephine decided to be shipmates together.

When practice rolled around this fall, little did the students think that the team would be so popular or successful. During the two weeks before school started the boys gave up some of their vacation to be ready for the season. Mr. Randour, assisted by Messrs. Charles and Matthew Alcorn, and Mr. Davis, worked to turn out a team that would be a credit to the school.

Penn's first game was with Latrobe, whom they had never played before. Although the team lost by a score of 27 to 19, they played one of the best games of the season and probably against their strongest opponent.

Next came Sharpsburg, our first victory and first home game of the season. Then the Indians went on the warpath and took the boys from across the river 18 to 0. Another home game, with Oakmont this time, meant another scalp for the braves, for they won 7 to 0. Turtle Creek on their own field then broke the winning streak by beating Penn to the tune of 12 to 7. It was a hard game, and the players did well, for Turtle Creek was one of the toughest teams in the district. The next week they fought it out with Verona, but the game ended 7 to 7.

On the following Saturday, Penn bravely lined up its ranks on the Wilkinsburg field. Alas and alack, it was a cold, snowy day and the boys bowed to a speedy Tiger team who stacked up 25 points to our 0. Then Penn played at home against a powerful Braddock team which was given the odds high above us, but the valiant warriors went out to do battle and came out victorious 7 to 6. This game was not only a triumph, but also the first AA school to be beaten by a Penn High team. With this under their belts the boys traveled to Norwin and had a field day. The team took their second class AA victory with 25 markers to Norwin's 0. The boys came home feeling quite proud but also awake to the fact that Johnstown Catholic High was their next opponent. This game was one that meant quite a lot to our coach, Mr. Randour, for Johnstown's coach is also Mr. Randour, a brother of our team's instructor. It was a night game, with snow falling hard on a muddy field. But in spite of difficulties the boys took their last game of the season 7 to 6.

At the end of the season, the Liberty Theater trophy was presented to Penn who defeated Oakmont and tied Verona. And last but not least, a group of public-spirited citizens of the township, along with the Penn Township Board of Commissioners, under Mr. A. C. Ireland, Jr., presented the boys of the athletic teams with very attractive red sweaters with a gold letter "P" on the front and a number of gold stripes on the left sleeve designating the years the boy has been on the varsity.

First Row—J. Brown, S. Newton, J. Winkleman, P. Golobish, B. Alcorn, B. Anker, R. Duffett, A. Ireland, F. Versaw, J. O'Connor, S. Alcorn, H. Grabowski, A. Bruno, J. Ambrose, J. Cerra, D. Long.

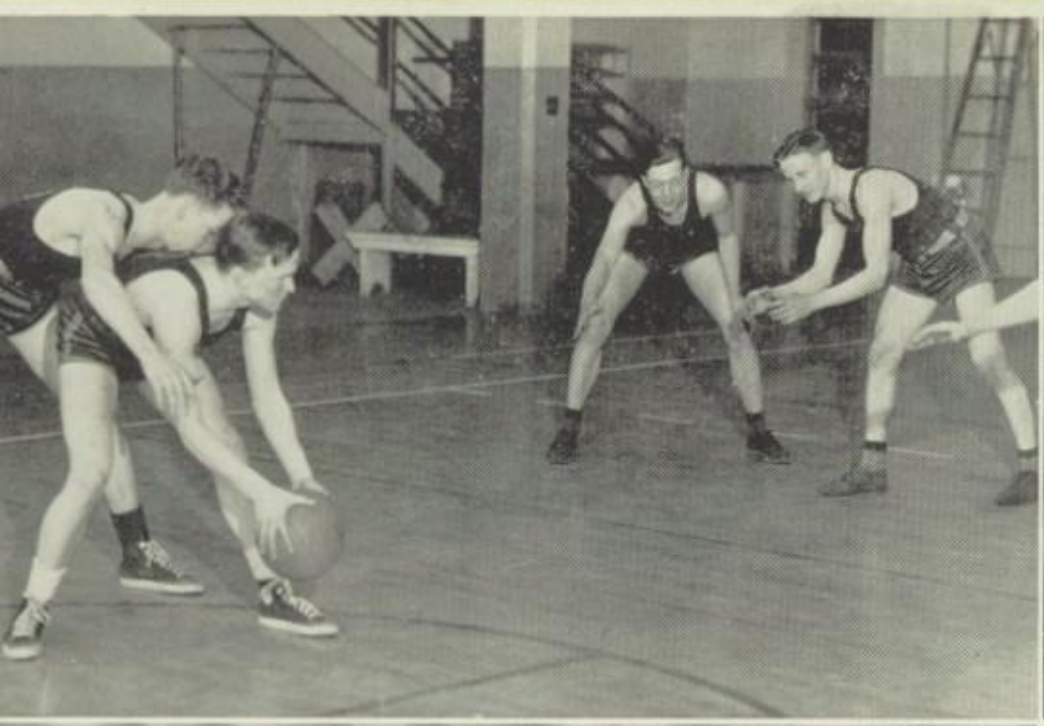
Practice started this year with only three lettermen left from last year. With these and last year's junior varsity, Coach Joseph Proksa set about to mold a team for the coming season.

The varsity finished its season with 5 wins and 15 losses or a percentage of .250. Plum high was the first victim, and the Indians were proud of this scalp. The boys then dropped one to New Kensington but healed their wounds by defeating McDonald. In McKeesport's new gymnasium Penn edged out a victory in an overtime. The boys traveled to Latrobe hoping to avenge the football defeat, but the mighty men from the mountains had other ideas and took the game. The varsity tigers traded games with Etna by losing one away and taking the return game at home. Then came the league schedule, and the floormen didn't fare too well, but many of the games were hard-fought and lost only by small margins. The team was in Section 8 of the W. P. I. A. L. along with Braddock, Swissvale, Rankin, Turtle Creek, Scott, and Wilkinsburg—all of whom handed defeats to Penn.

Near the end of the season the junior varsity saw action in the varsity games in order to get some experience for next year.

The boys who saw action this year were D. Hemphill, J. Keagy, D. Long, F. Versaw, G. Roman, D. Fitzroy, P. Long, C. Smidtke, J. Contreras, C. James, and R. Cline, with the first five leading in scoring.

The forgotten teams around Penn High seem to be the junior varsities. Our scrub basketball team, coached by Mr. Matthew Alcorn, finished their season with a good percentage of wins. These boys deserve a lot of credit because every night they go to practice, work hard, and play the preliminary games; yet they receive little recognition or reward for their toil.



Some of the players who were very active and loyal were Sam Alcorn, Bob Alcorn, P. Waina, H. Graboski, J. Cerra, P. Golobish, and E. Fiala. These boys will prove good varsity material next year and some have already had some action in the varsity games.

The Penn freshmen proved their worth by ending their basketball season in second place where they were tied with East Deer. Until the last two games they were up at the top, tied with Natrona.

These freshman passers, coached by Charles Alcorn, boast a season record of 10 wins and 5 losses, a .666 percentage—not bad at all.

In their non-league competition they humbled O'Hara twice with scores of 32-10 and 24-12 and were taken by Duquesne 18 to 5. A trade was made with Wilkinsburg by losing the first one 34-22 and taking the home game 23 to 21.

Their league games in Junior Section 8 of the W. P. I. A. L. ended with 5 wins and 3 losses. Twice Springdale fell victim to our lads by the scores of 22-10 and 20-8. Two more scalps were hung on their belts when they beat East Deer 25-15 and then Natrona Heights 32-14. Again they met Natrona and conquered to the tune of 11 to 24. Penn double faulted and lost two to Natrona by scores of 23-14 and 29-7.

First Row—N. Puskarich, A. Barkovich, F. Barkovich, Mr. Berg (coach), P. Barkovich.

Second Row—G. Bosnick, J. Snyder.

Third Row—A. Seamon, R. Fowler.

Golf Team

"Ah, an eagle!" No, it's not a mad naturalist, it's an expression you can expect to hear from Mr. Berg. Mr. Berg has coached our golf team ever since 1938, and in that short time the boys have won the W.P.I.A.L. championship twice. The golfers have helped a great deal in decorating our trophy case by winning a trophy in each of these contests. Besides having an excellent team, we have some stellar individual players, for both Pete Barkovich and Andy Seamon have won recognition in contests in which they have been entered. Pete Barkovich teed on to place first in a match which entitled him to go to Penn State for the playoff of the P. I. A. A. In this contest he won a medal and it was not the first time, for in 1939 he received the same honor. In the two times that he has played at State College he has placed fifth in 1939, and last year he won another medal for rating third in this State championship. Andy Seamon won his match at Shadyside Academy, where he had some very stiff competition.

This team is not heard of so much as our football or basketball teams, for it hasn't as many members and its matches are not played at school. Because they don't receive as much attention around school is no reason they shouldn't for these boys really work just as hard and have produced much better results than any of our other teams. Just think, a championship team; better keep your eyes open because some of these boys will be making golf headlines in the not too far future.

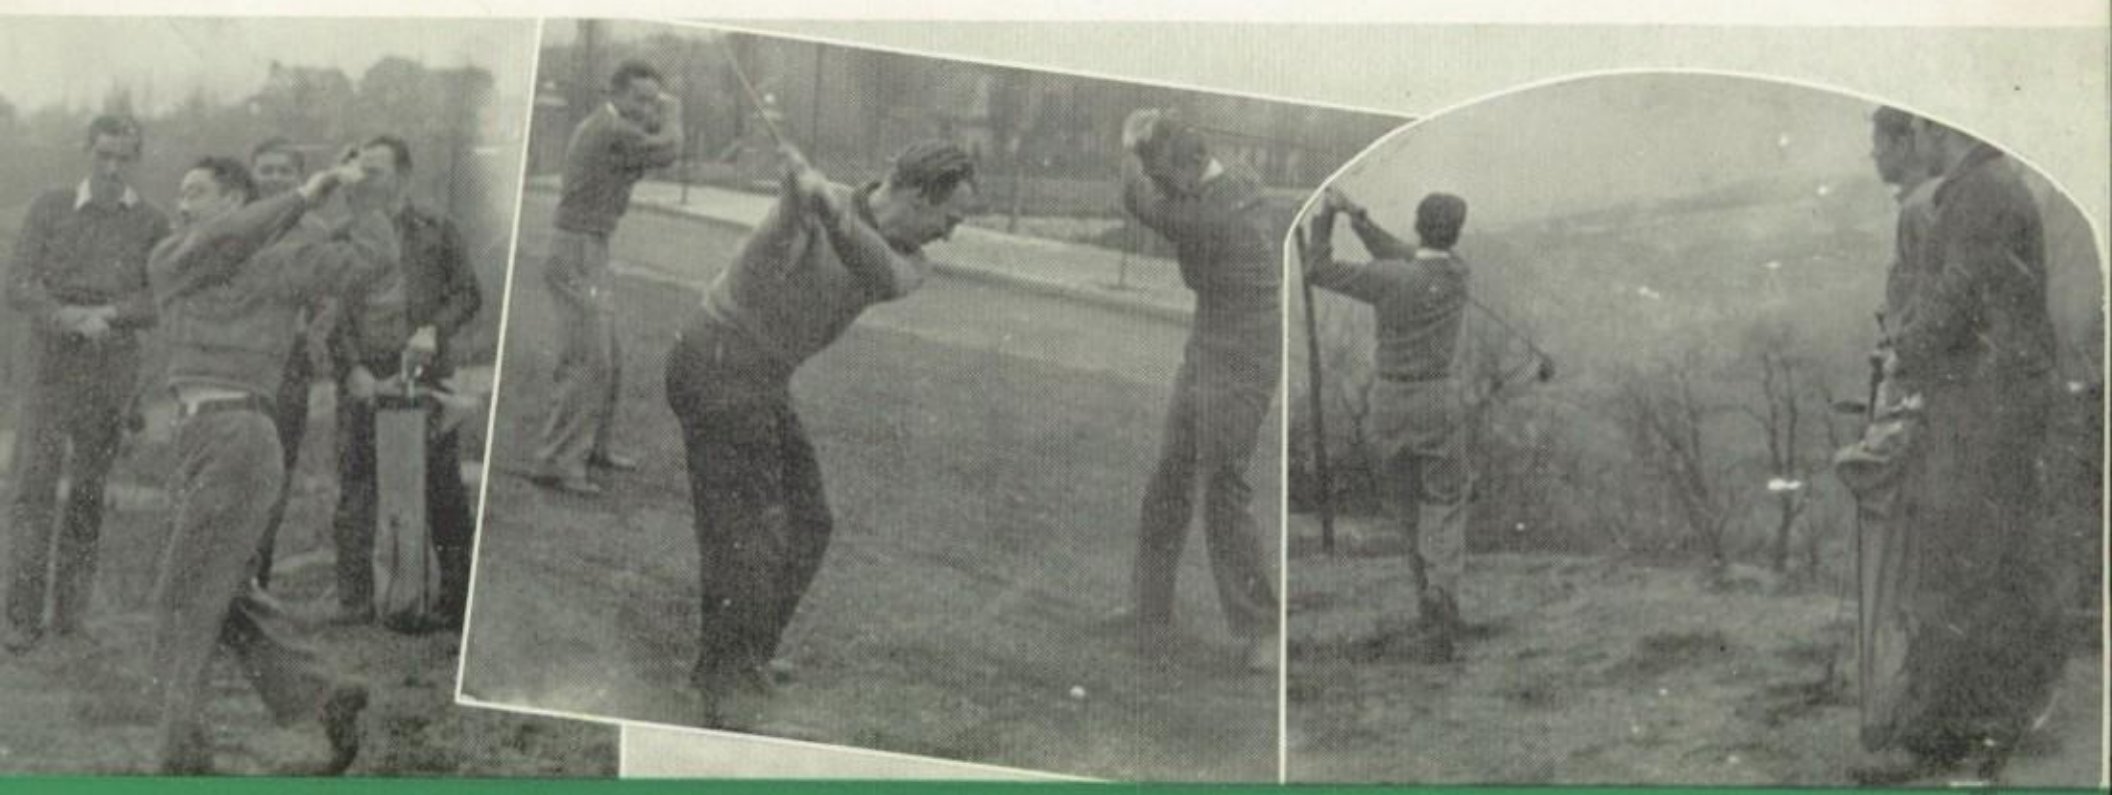
All the boys on the team have shot under 78, which is something many older and more experienced golfers would be proud of. Pete Barkovich has shot the very low score of 68, that is 4 under par for the Alcoma course, and that is "something."

We owe Alcoma Country Club our thanks for they have made it possible for us to have a golf team. Alcoma is our home course and here many of the boys have received their training.

The boys who received letters last year are Ronald Fowler, Andy Seamon, James Snyder, Pete Barkovich, George Estock, and Ludwig Demshar, the manager. The boys are listed in the order in which they played. This year's team will be missing Pete Barkovich and George Estok but the rest of the players will be back.

On the course this year will be Ronald Fowler, Andy Seamon, James Snyder, Andy Barkovich, Frank Barkovich, George Bosnick, and may they have as good a record as their predecessors.

This year's schedule has not yet been received but the boys will probably be playing their former rivals which will include Turtle Creek, New Kensington, and Latrobe.



The Track Season

Winding up 1940 with a record of four meets won and two lost Penn's thin clads could well boast a successful season. Besides their dual meet wins Coach Davis' tracksters, along with the girls' track team, copped second place in the Allegheny County Track Meet at South Park last year. Another laurel for Penn came when Forrest Versaw, competing in the W. P. I. A. L. Outdoor Track Meet at Pitt Stadium, won a second place in the javelin throw with a heave of 153 feet, about 18 feet short of his best mark, 170 feet 8 inches, attained at the Avalon meet. This entitled him to a trip to Penn State College, where he came in fifth in the P. I. A. A. contest.

The Indians' outstanding dual victories last season were over Turtle Creek and Wilkinsburg, our traditional rivals. Each, because of its well known stars, was slated for victory over the Red and Gold, but a well-balanced squad upset them. Their other victims were Avalon and Etna, two above-average squads. In the 1940 opener Mt. Lebanon, 1940 W. P. I. A. L. champion, defeated them as did Duquesne on April 30.

Last season found many 1939 Penn High records being broken. The most outstanding of these, of course, was Versaw's 170-foot 8-inch javelin toss, with Ireland's 10.1-second 100-yard dash running a close second to it. Pat Fitzroy holds the broad jump record, 20 feet 7 inches, and the high jump record, 5 feet 8 inches. In running the best mile mark, 4 minutes and 57 seconds, was made by Ray Bruwelheide while Tom Johnson's 24.5-second 220-yard dash was the best in this event. Al Bodnar holds the best pole vault mark, 9 feet 6 inches, and Versaw's 126-foot 7-inch was tops for a discus throw. The record 44-ft. 2-inch put of the shot is held by Al Ireland.

Cheerleaders

J. Wilson, U. Halloran, A. Schwarzel, L. Isherwood, M. Snyder, A. Porteous.

Loud rah-rah-rahs are heard echoing when these peppy cheerleaders dash onto the football field to lead the students in cheers. At basketball games, as well as football games, these "cheer guys and gals" are the chief rooters. When they lead the students in their rousing yells, any Penn team is spurred on to victory. The squad, chosen from tryouts by Coaches J. K. Ingold and Betty Reed, originates cheers, then introduces them at pep meetings.

G. A. A.

"A sport for every girl and every girl a sport" applies to the Girls' Athletic Association. The seventy-five members, chosen by interest in sports, honor grades in gym, and general approval by present members of the club and sponsors, are active in all girls' athletics. Play periods are a regular part of their program. Outstanding social events of this year were the Get-Acquainted Party, the wiener roast, a Christmas party, and a bowling party. Miss Elizabeth Klinar and Miss Elizabeth Reed are the sponsors of this group of girls. The officers are: President, Regina Berg; vice president, Natalie Jacobson; secretary, Elizabeth Stoner; treasurer, Mary Jane Day.

First Row—L. Moersch, R. Holman, P. Stultz, J. Fry, N. Jacobson, R. Berg, M. J. Day, E. Stoner, I. Downer, J. Snyder, May Smith, R. Perino, P. Wuillmier.

Second Row—M. Hromjak, J. Broods, R. May, R. McCurdy, D. Hill, J. Furich, H. Wrabley, M. Bechdel, E. Cherok, M. Sroka, D. Sroka, R. Walton.

Third Row—Miss Reed, E. Dailey, M. Posey, G. Cecchini, Z. Gladhill, E. Slagle, L. Stahl, B. Black, M. Mikoletic, F. Bregant, R. Hospodor, Miss Klinar.

Fourth Row—A. Potts, D. McCollum, M. Bracco, E. Hertzog, E. Sundin, E. E. Stoner, N. McClinton, J. Stitt, N. Beatty, D. Leroy, M. Duffet, B. Eunson, J. Pfab.

Fifth Row—E. Kovatch, E. Clarke, H. Bregant, J. Shiner, E. Davis, I. Johnson, D. Plater, L. Gadson, E. Allen, F. Anderson, V. Bruwelheide, M. Pasterchak.

1. Janitors — M. Thomas, E. McCurdy, H. Metcalfe.
2. Cafeteria Staff — Mrs. Alberts, Mrs. Frick, Mrs. Fair, Mrs. McWilliams, Mrs. Stoner, Ruth Ayres.
3. Office Secretary — Miss Richey.
4. Superintendent of Buildings—Mr. Dible.
5. School Nurse — Miss Woods.

In addition to the student officers, there are other executives, nurse, janitors, cooks, secretaries, etc., who help direct the school affairs. The nurse, Miss Woods, who administers aid to ill students, is an important branch. Mrs. Stoner, Mrs. Fair, Mrs. Alberts, Mrs. McWilliams, Mrs. Frick, and Ruth Ayres compose the cafeteria staff, whose deft hands prepare many non-resistable delicacies. Most industrious men who do most to keep the school spic and span, are the janitors, Mr. E. McCurdy, Mr. M. Thomas, and Mr. H. Metcalfe. Mrs. McClinton is the ever efficient secretary of the school board; while Miss Richey, whose pleasing voice and charming ways have won her many friends, both students and strangers visiting the school. Superintendent of buildings is Mr. C. Dible. His blithe "helloes" are an asset to the students. And so each one in his own specific way, due to the intense interest he displays, has gained a deep admiration from the students.

ALUMNI NEWS

In 1940, two-hundred-twelve more students joined the ranks of the Penn High Alumni. For a year, now, they have been out in the cold cruel world. For you, dear reader, the Seneca has kept the record of every graduate.

We'll start with the class officers. Morrison Arthur, president, is becoming an even greater news hound at Penn State. Ludwig Demshar, vice president, has established himself at Gulf Research. Jane Sinewe, secretary, is majoring in Latin at Westminster. The man who handled the money, Harold Roth, is attending Pittsburgh School of Embalming. And Bertha Jane Keller, historian, is making history in drama at Allegheny.

Ruth Kress is learning the art of a social worker at Wooster. Fran Blackadore is making music at Oberlin.

Marion Boggs and Edithe Dickey are classmates at Pitt, where Marion is taking pre-med. There, too, George Snedecker is studying pharmacy.

Ruth Clarke graces the campus of Rider College, New Jersey.

Dave Haines is seeking higher education at Franklin and Marshall.

Bob Huegli is seen on the Gettysburg campus.

At Tech, Emmert Harchelroad, Charles Goehring, and Dave Walton are studying engineering. Jack Ray's major is music.

John Young attends Shaw University. Luther Dailey, too, is studying at a Southern college.

Helen Jackson, Mary Jelovchan, and Jean Volk answered the call of Indiana State Teachers'.

Roberta Herman enrolled at Gaulledet College in Washington, D.C.

Katherine Klinar is at Westminster.

Nellie Ireland is attending PCW from which she will emerge a full-pledged nurse.

Joe McAdams salutes us from V. M. I.

Mabeth Stewart attends classes at Ohio University.

Ambitious grads, working and attending night school are: Harry Coots, Tech; Don Fisher, Schenley; Frank Gladhill, Westinghouse; James Smith, Tech; and Bob Vogel, Tech.

Considering the enrollment in business schools, business is booming. Eleanor Graham and Mathilda Contreras are classmates at Grace Martin's.

Beatrice Cotter is having fun at Morton's Business School.

Jean Dowler and Marjorie Quinlan pal around at Pinkerton's.

Doris Duff is our representative at Miss Conley's.

Catherine Liberto and Katharine Moesta go to Robert Morris.

Something new—Helen Lesko goes to New Kensington Commercial College.

Something different—Helen Binkley is taking a P G at Plum High.

St. Francis Hospital is training our own Marie Eggert and Mildred McCurdy. What lovely nurses!

Mildred Jacobs is painting at Ad Art Studios.

Ray Richey's learning at Connolly Trade School.

Thomas Bertovic and LeRoy Keaton answer the Army's bugle call.

Eugene Garner and Ernest Jantz are members of the National Guards.

Lloyd Schaeffer is in the Navy, stationed with the Pacific fleet.

Frank Habjan is another one who swabs decks.

Yes, even five of the grads have altar-treked—James Harding, Marie Huber, Ida Mae Jones, Lois Potts, and Antoinette Puskarich.

Engaged? Yes. Ethel Kuhn, Alice Baker, Anna Marie Bechtold, and Anna Filip.

Jean Conville, a neat little secretary, is working in our own Municipal building.

Those earning their bread and butter are: Lou, Bill, and Welden Anscheutz, Louis Andreko, Ray Beatty, Paul Bissacott, Harry Bissell, Al Bodnar, Alice Bowman, May Bowman, Julia Bregant, Zola Mae Brown, Ray Bruwelheide, Bill Cain, Bernice Chandler, Eleanor Cherok, Irene Christ, Anthony Clements, Sam Corbin, Frank Corrodo, Hurana Costas, Robert Cunliffe, Ed Davenport, Reardon Dight, Betty Eastland, Dorothy Evans, George Estok, Leonard Evanish, Margaret Evans, Frank Filip, Thelma Fischer, Pat Fitzroy, John Frick, Bill Froelich, Helen Galomb, Abraham Garner, Melba Glanton, Helen Grossman, Betty Gruver, Charles Hawkins, Bill Hemphill, Thomas Johnson, Dave Kiser, Bob Koloc, Anne Komeshic, Andy Kozusko, Frank Kozusko, William Krebs, George Laris, Bob Lilja, Bob Lindsay, Joseph Lintelman, Ed Loehr, Leonard Machen, William Machen, Joseph Marel, Martha McClintock, Frances McCutcheon, Betty McIlrath, Margaret McMeekin, Bernard Moore, Thelma Morden, Harold Nelson, Mary Palochic, Donald Perino, Rose Porter, Ralph Posey, George Ritter, Eunice Sampson, Charles Schnars, Richard Schulteis, Louis Showell, Ella Louise Thoms, Evelyn Snyder, Betty Stephens, Joe Trujillo, Stavros Vais, George Weber, Marcella Whiteford, Dorothy Whitmore, Lillian Wright, Marjorie Wright, Phil Yalenty, Kenneth Yarbrough, Norman Wessell, Carl Moeller, Dorothy O'Hara, Andy Yuhas.

FACULTY

Dear Reader,

With your kind permission the following is an imaginative sketch of a classroom scene that might have taken place some odd years back if all the members of our faculty had attended the same grade school.

SCENE I — School Begins

Teacher — "The new-comers, Marie Stoehr and Margaret Speirs, please take a seat in the rear of the room for today. Now, everyone ready for roll call."

Cecilia Massarelli — "Presente."

John Corr Judge — "Begorra, I'm here, just as sure as the square of the hypotenuse is equal to the sum of the other two sides."

"Blondie" Atkinson — "Rarin' to go."

Mary Louise Gilroy — "Here, teacher."

Marguerite Heggie — "Je suis ici."

"Wh-ell, this is a surprise, Joseph Wherry, so you have decided to visit us today. (Angrily) Don't you know, young man, that this is the third time you have been late this week. Take your seat and report to room 105 at four o'clock."

"Now then, close your books and . . . . Frankie Crane! If you don't put away that "Chemcraft" set until recess, I'll come back there and make pretty music breaking your test tubes."

"Okey doke, teacher."

"All right now, if I may again have your attention I'll proceed . . . . Charles Alcorn, or was it Matthew, did you throw that spitball?"

"No, teacher."

"Won't you two boys ever grow up? And if Joseph Proksa will stop making goo goo eyes at Eleanor Clegg I'll go on. Oh! There go Ralph Stoner and DeVaughn Scott sawing wood back there again; I wonder if they get any sleep at home?

"I believe I assigned the history questions at the end of the chapter for today. Am I right? Fine, and Jacob Berg, are you able to answer the first? . . . . . You'll have to work to keep that A in history. Well then, Jane Cyphers, since Jacob is unable to answer we'll have you read your editorial on the European situation. Just a minute . . . . Florence Atwell, deposit your gum in the wastebasket."

"Why, Arthur Kelley, my prize pupil, I'm surprised at you pulling Dorothea Lurting's pigtails."

"But, teacher, Eleanor Thomas asked me to do it because she wanted to speak to her."

"No alibis; I wish you would all behave like Ann Keil here. By the way, what were you going to tell Dorothea, Eleanor?"

"I wanted to tell her to watch Johnny Manton across the aisle. He was picking up paper with his comb — honest."

"Now you've done it; it's time for recess already. Glenny Davis get back in your seat, you aren't dismissed yet. All right, everyone outside. As you pass out the door give your banking money to Clara Anderson, Oh, Dorothy Curran and Katherine Hindman, thank you for the cookies you brought me. By the way, Evelyn McCurdy, I'm counting on you to prepare a program for tomorrow's Valentine party, and Jessie Willson, will you remain to decorate the boards? And, oh yes, Muriel Magee and Nancy Litman, I'll need Monday's quiz mimeographed."

SCENE II

We leave this school room and venture out onto the playground where we again pick up the students. There is "Bully" Randour picking a scrap with little Kay Ingold. Ann Hofmeister has a job on her hands hauling the two Alcorn brothers and Jake Berg around on her new sled. "Liz" Klinar and "Liz" Reed, the two outdoor girls, have started a snow battle and "Margie" Reed is waxing her new skis.
